INFORMATION SHEET

DEMOLITION OF BUILDINGS

Generally the demolition of buildings (or parts of a building) over a certain size will need authority under the Building Act before any work on the demolition commences on site.

Demolition of Buildings

When the owner of a building over 1750ft³ (approximately 50m³) intends to have it demolished, the legal requirements of Sections 80-83 of the Building Act 1984 impose a requirement for formal notification to be given to Building Control. Building Control form BC05 – Notice of Demolition (as overleaf) should be completed and returned at least 6 weeks before any demolition works starts. This is to enable all appropriate people and organisations to be advised of the proposed demolition and to ensure that measures to protect the public and/or to preserve public amenities are put in place.

The notice issued to this office should specify the building to which it relates and the work of demolition intended to be carried out.

Copies of the notice should also be given to;

- Local Authority Building Control
- The occupiers of any adjacent building
- West Power Distribution or appropriate area distributor
- Transco
- Southern Electricity or appropriate supplier
- South West Water/Wessex Water – or appropriate supplier
- Environment Agency
- Devon and Somerset Fire and Rescue Service

It will assist us to process the application more speedily if a site plan is provided with the Notice and all relevant contact details are provided.

At least 6 weeks notification is needed before physical commencement of demolition. We will endeavour to write back before the six weeks has elapsed, notifying you of our requirements under the Act. Once you have received such notification you may commence the demolition works, otherwise you should wait until six weeks has elapsed.

Where a building is demolished without the necessary notice being given and a subsequent reply being received, the council may take enforcement action.

Planning Permission

Please note that Planning Permission may be necessary before you commence the demolition of certain types of building. For further information or specific advice regarding the need for planning permission please contact Development Control direct on 01935 462462.
